Lyreco Scoops prestigious Environmental Award for the second year in a row

On 24th October 2013, Office & Workplace supplies company, Lyreco, were awarded the prestigious BOSS Federation Environmental Award in the International Convention Centre (ICC) Birmingham in front of more than 500 guests from across the Stationery Industry.

This is the second time in a row that Lyreco has won the Environmental Award. The panel of judges were not only impressed with Lyreco's Sustainability policy, but also with the top level commitment by the company to develop strong sustainability activities that are achieving outstanding environmental results.

The British Office Supplies & Services Industry Awards recognise and reward those within the industry who can demonstrate real excellence and successful performance of their business. The award was received by Peter Hradisky Lyreco's Managing Director and Manel Roura Lyreco's Quality, Safety and Sustainability Manager. Manel commented "I am absolutely thrilled that we are double winners of the BOSS Environmental Award, this shows that Lyreco is engaged in a continuous improvement in sustainability and the activity and results in reducing our environmental impact are recognized externally."

"The award has been received with great pride by all employees at Lyreco who contribute on a daily basis to ensure the company remains on target with our "Eco Future" commitments.
